1 Install one of the six plain-coloured floorings or 16 patterned wall coverings – all made from cork – by Granorte Design and you'll be doing your bit to reduce landfill. The Portuguese family-owned company was founded in the 1970s specifically to develop and make products from waste generated by bottle-stopper manufacturers. This new range, which includes (from left) 'C01W18' and 'C01W23', goes back to those roots; prices from £50 approx per sq m. Ring 00 35 1 256 783 026, or visit granorte.pt.

2 When the Guggenheim got together with Fine Paints of Europe the upshot was a palette of colours worthy of Modern art's greatest masters. 'Classical Colours' consists of 150 hues (four shown here) taken from works in the museum's collection. 'Gallery Colours', meanwhile, is made up of 50 shades that have, at one time or another, been the backdrop to the masterpieces; prices from $35 per 500ml. Ring 001 888 680 4278, or visit guggenheimcolorbyfpe.com.

3 If any contemporary log basket can light your fire, it's surely the 'Currus' trolley (£370) by Italian manufacturer Ferarri and available from Robeys (also shown: 'Ferrum' tools; from £138 for a set of four). Ring 01773 826085, or visit robeys.co.uk.

4 The great 18th-century English furniture designer would surely be proud to have his name associated with ELG at Sainsburys hand-carved 'Chippendale Plume' four-poster, shown here in a two-tone distressed paint finish; it costs £19,596 (excluding mattress and drapes; other finishes available). Ring 01258 857573, or visit elgsainsburys.com.

5 Fromental has been around for a mere six of the 30 years Wol has. But the company – which prides itself on 'continuing the tradition of the decorative arts' – has made its mark on the world of interiors with its beautiful wall-coverings. The latest is 'Drape', a fabulous hand-decorated trompe-l'oeil paper-backed velvet, inspired by mid-19th-century examples (£465 per sq m). Ring 020 3410 2000, or visit fromental.co.uk.
